OUR BIG TOBACCO FAIR.

How Its Magnitude Was Measured at St. Louis.

THOUSANDS OF KENTUCKIANS THERE

St. Louis Republic.

A Tobacco Fair was held at Maysville, Mason county, Ky., on Washington's Birthday, which was attended by thousands of planters from North and South Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi and Ohio, as well as from all parts of Kentucky.

The Tobacco Fair is an annual institution at Maysville, and the residents of the town are taxed to their utmost to care for the visitors who flock there to view the exhibitions of some of the finest natural leaf in the world.

Large cash prizes are offered for the best specimens of the natural leaf, and between the fairs the planters throughout the tobacco-growing states pay particular attention to the crop in the hope of producing tobacco of sufficient high quality to capture some of the prizes offered at the Maysville Fair.

The prestige that goes with the prize is of greater value to the tobacco grower than the money, as the planter who captures a prize is pretty certain to find a good market for his product. Hundreds of planters of the Bluegrass counties and the rich counties of Brown, Harrison and Adams, in Southern Ohio, had large exhibits at the Fair, and they were of such uniform good quality that the judges found it difficult to decide which specimens were entitled to the first prizes.

The texture of the leaf, its size, taste and freedom from gristle dirt, are taken into consideration by the judges, and only the best specimens are considered at all. The leaf exhibited at the Maysville Fair is called the "White Burley."

George W. Blatterman, Jr., a native of Kentucky, said that the county of Mason is the original home of the famous White Burley leaf, and for half a century this product has been known to the world as the "Mason County Leaf."

In the last twenty years the "Burley" has been carried down through the Bluegrass counties until Fleming, Bath, Bracken, Nicholas, Montgomery, Madison, Meigs, Boone, Boyle, Harrison, Fayette and Franklin are vast fields of the great plant, which, when brought to the market, is always remunerative to the planter and has been instrumental in making this district the most prosperous in the world.

The White Burley differs from the old Virginia dark leaf in that it is of much better growth and larger fiber and, when used in the manufacture of plug tobacco, is capable of absorbing a large quantity of sweetening. The greater portion of the Burley comes to Lexington and has been used exclusively for many years by the large tobacco factories of this city in the manufacture of their well known brands of chewing and smoking tobacco, which are known all over the world and are shipped to every quarter of the globe.

There are 60,000 Kentuckians in this city who take pride in the success of the tobacco-growing industry of their great state.

Dr. J. T. Strode and Mr. W. T. Brown, both former Maysvillians, are on the Committee of Waris Commandery of Lexington, preparing for the big R. T. convocate at Louisville.

Collector Roberts has made the following assignments at this point for March: H. G. Holiday, John R. Dag, C. H. McDowell, Storekeepers, and Oscar Grigsby, Gauger, at the H. E. Pogue Distillery, J. S. Wallingford, Storekeeper-Gauger, to Poyntz Bros.; James M. Burridge and C. T. West, Storekeeper-Gaugers to J. H. Rogers & Co.

Strikes and Spares

Don't forget the tussle between the Second Ward Cyclones and the Fourth Ward Tigers at 7:30 tomorrow evening.

Captain Thomas M. Russell has notified Colonel Ed Elliott of Lexington that, if a one-rate can be arranged with the C. and N. folk, ten Maysville bowlers will swoop down on the Bluegrass Capital and show her boys how to swipe the pins on Tuesday evening, March 5th.

RIVER NEWS

The river is falling fast all along.

The Ohio is gorged at East Liverpool.

The Traulia is due tonight for Iron-ton.

The Courier will be up tonight for Pomeroy.

The Bonanza from Pomeroy will be down tonight.

The M. P. Wells will be down tonight from Buena Vista.

The Henry M. Stanley for Pomeroy was up last night.

The boats are having a hard time getting through the ice.

The Indiana was able to get through the thin, sharp ice yesterday.

Captain Chester of the gasoline boat Jessie is one of the most unique characters on the river. Although of powerful physique his voice is small and peaked. The Captain lost the use of his vocal chords some years ago, and with the aid of a whistle placed in the roof of his mouth is able to talk. He removes the whistle during eating and sleeping hours.

The work of improving the harbor of Vicksburg continues. The combined work of the two dredges for last week at Vicksburg was 5,500 cubic yards of matter, which is not fully up to, but is in excess of the contract requirement. The contractors are now pumping mud across steamboat slough, in the line with the dike which has been raised, and which will take a great quantity of mud before it reaches the proper level.

Captain Harry C. Gilbert of the steamer John S. Hopkins reports that J. B. Williams had a crowd at Shawneetown, Ill., and that she will, in all probability, remain there till the river rises, as the Hopkins and Fowler, both are built to Richmond, 20 miles; Williams to release the City of Pittsburgh, which was accomplished, she got fast. The Pittsburgh grounded again after going a short distance, and the Hopkins left the Fowler pulling at her. Part of the Williams tow is

The annual report of the Trustees of the Eastern Kentucky Lunatic Asylum at Lexington shows that during the year ending September, 1899, 609 patients were in the asylum, of which 424 were white males and 387 white females. Two hundred and seventy-seven were admitted during the year and 290 discharged. The report shows that 3 per cent of those adjudged insane were cured.

Mrs. NATION has compassed her ambition. She is to travel with a circus, and it goes without saying that she will be a strong rival to the other animals.

The Republicans of Northeastern Kentucky, as well as those of Boyd county, are now without an "official organ" since The Ashland News suspended. But the Ashland Independent furnishes them with an excellent quality of local news—plenty of it.

The Filipino General CAILANS has issued a proclamation offering ten Mexican dollars apiece for the heads of Americans. As Mexican "dollars" are worth only about fifty cents each, the price per head is not very much, it is true, but the offer should inspire the anti-imperialist correspondents in Boston and elsewhere to renewed efforts in behalf of the poor Filipinos, who are so accomplished in civilization and so competent for self-government.

A DISPATCH from Fulton says Dr. SMITH met Captain HARDMAN ROBINSON of the State Guards on the street at that place and shot him, the wound being almost identical with that of Senator GOREBEL. That cannot be, the ball went through GOREBEL's body vertically, shooting beyond the possibility of a doubt—according to Toot (Carter) Bell's expert professional perceptions—that the shot was fired from the first story or the second story or some other part of the building in which CALHOUN POWERS's office was located. SMITH was standing on a level with Captain ROBINSON when he shot him, and the bullet must have gone straight through!

Then, again, to have Captain ROBINSON's wound identical with that of Mr. GOREBEL, it is necessary that the wound be larger where the ball went in than it is where the ball came out; and, according to the facts and facts who have spoken, Mr. GOREBEL's body presented the only wound of that kind that was ever heard of!

However, any of the local readers of THE LEADER who are curious to see the "funny-looking" of a pistol ball when it once gets loose, are invited to visit Judge NEWELL's office. One day last week Constable DAWSON dropped a revolver in the hallway at the Courthouse. The weapon was discharged, the ball entering the Judge's office through the space between the door and the frame, tearing the wood on either side; it then struck a panel in a bookcase, being deflected at an angle of about forty degrees, passing through a sack above the Judge's desk, fully fifteen feet in an opposite direction from that in which the ball entered the room! Take a look at these "scars," and then say if you would be willing to swear where that bullet started from, unless you had seen them!

PUGH STILL PUSHING.

Latest From Washington About the New Kentucky Judgeship.

A Courier-Journal special from Washington on Saturday says the visit of Representative Pugh to the White House Friday was more lengthy than usual, the President allowing him fifteen or twenty minutes. According to The Star, Mr. Pugh's chances have "again" been strengthened by "about twenty judges of the Court of Appeals and Circuit Court having signed strong recommendations of Mr. Pugh's legal abilities."

Senator Deboe and Representative Pugh are still confident that the latter will be appointed, though it cannot be learned that the President has given any intimation that he will take this course. The Pugh line of fight seems to be on the idea that the more the President is sent the more Pugh's chances improve until finally he is to be appointed simply to get rid of him. The only thing standing in the way of Mr. Pugh's appointment is the question whether the President will reach a decision on the Judgeship in the same manner that he would pass upon a Justice case. Anyhow, the President will do something for Pugh if he does not give him the Judgeship.

The Information Contained in This Citizen's Statement is Available to Mayville People.

When a resident of Mayville whose statement appears below has no money or other interest in the article which he indorses, who is anxious to do his acquaintances and fellow-residents a good turn, who publishes in this paper his experience with Doan's Kidney Pills, that citizen must have good and sufficient reason for doing so. The following should dispel any doubts which may exist in the reader's mind on this subject.

Mr. P. Gantley, grocer at 314 East Fourth street, says:
 "The prompt and thorough relief from backache given by Doan's Kidney Pills is the strongest inducement possible. When backache is caused by the lack of proper action of the kidneys the only reason for continuing to suffer is the want of knowledge of Doan's Kidney Pills. I procured them at J. Jas. Wood & Son's Drugstore, West Second and Market streets."

For sale by all dealers; price 50 cents a box.

Kentucky in Elligence.

FINALLY LANDED H.M.

Ed Logan, For Whom Revenue Officers Have Been Hunting for Some Time, Captured.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 26.—The United States Internal revenue office here received news Monday of the capture of Ed Logan, alias "The Wolf of Kentucky," who, the revenue officers say, has been the object of more unsuccessful raids than any other man in Kentucky. Logan, who is now in the hands of the revenue officers, has been operating illicit stills for 20 years. A volunteer guide took the officers to Logan's still, where he was located without difficulty. The officers did not care to enter the still, so hid until Logan came out unarmed to get a bucket of water. His still was destroyed.

Ida Finklestein, a Young School Teacher, Assaulted by a Negro Near Terre Haute.

SHOT IN THE HEAD AND THROAT CUT.

The Girl Ran Half a Mile to a Farm House With Blood Streaming From Her Wounds.

Well Armed Officers and Men Who Have a Fairly Good Description of the Fleeing are Searching the Country.

Terre Haute, Ind., Feb. 26.—Ida Finklestein, aged 20 years, a school teacher, while walking through a lonely strip of woods late Monday afternoon on the way from the school house where she taught to the suburban electric line, was assaulted by an unknown Negro, who shot her in the back of the head and cut her throat, severing the windpipe.

After the deadly assault had been committed Miss Finklestein ran for a half mile to a farm house with the blood streaming from her wounds and fell unconscious on the doorstep.

Died a Few Hours Later.

She is not expected to live and officers and men who have a fairly good description of the Negro are scouring the country east of the city armed with revolvers and shotguns. A searching party consisting of the sheriff and his posse, and a posse of men, are searching for the assassin. Miss Finklestein lives in Terre Haute, and has been a student at the normal school. She is a bright young woman, accomplished, and has a wide circle of friends, who are in grief at the terrible crime.

Miss Ida Finklestein died at 11 o'clock Monday night at the Catholic hospital. Several suspects have been arrested and public feeling is aroused to a high pitch.

The young woman was the main support of a widowed mother with six children.

Seven years ago her father, a pack peddler, was killed in a saloon at Hynes, a mining town.

IN CONGRESS.

Real Struggle for Insular Legislation Begun in the Senate—A Night Session.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The real struggle for insular legislation at this session began Monday in the senate. The army appropriation bill was under consideration and the Philippine amendment was reported. In addition the Cuba amendment was offered and the general debate on these propositions began. Sharp opposition to the Philippine amendment developed on the democratic side, beginning with a point of order which the senate overruled and followed with speeches by Senators Tillman, Rawlin, Caffery, Bacon and Morgan. The amendment was defended by its author, Mr. Spooner, who pointed out the necessity for the legislation. Senators Vest, Bacon and Rawlin offered amendments tending to limit the powers conferred by the Spooner amendment. Senator Morgan also offered amendments tending to criticize the proposed legislation. An evening session was held to allow time to continue the debate.

The house Monday jettisoned the authorizations for two battleships and two cruisers which were in the naval appropriation bill as it passed the body. The senate had rejected the proposition, and against the appeals of the house conferees the house Monday voted by a big majority to reject the amendments. Chairman Cannon, of the appropriation committee, contributed largely to this result by a vigorous speech in favor of the senate amendment. Partial conference report on the bill was agreed to and the bill went back to conference. The house also agreed to the conference report on the bill to create a commission of five to adjudicate the claims of United States citizens against Spain assumed by the United States under the treaty of Paris. Just before adjournment, Mr. Tunney, chairman of the committee on the bill, asked unanimous consent to discharge the senate amendment to the exposition bill, but Mr. Shepherd (Tex.) objected.

JEFFERSON, JR., RUNS AWAY.

Grandson of the Famous Actor Threw of a Military School in One Day.

Thomas Jefferson, 12-year-old son of Thomas Jefferson and grandson of Joseph Jefferson, the great impersonator of "Big Van Vliet," was a lodger at the Yankers (N. Y.) police station the other night.

Joseph the younger lives in Montclair, N. J. His father is starting in Indiana. His mother turned the little fellow over to the St. Matthew's military school at Dobbs Ferry the other night. He was to have stayed at the school until June. He did not like the prospect and decided to set out for Montclair. He got permission to leave his school at the afternoon and struck for the railroad track. He recalled dimly the direction where he had come from Manhattan and headed to the southward. The sun went down behind the Palisades and Joseph began to feel lonely, as the night was too cold for luxury-loving tramps to be out in the open. He saw a light in a tower down the track. He went up the stairs of the tower and at the top found a good-natured man, without a word of warning.

"What time is it, mister?" the boy asked.

"About six o'clock my boy," the tower-keeper said. "Come in and get warm; you look half frozen."

Then Joseph told all about himself, and the tower-keeper huddled a pebbles and led him to the top of the tower that he had a runaway boy. The little fellow had left his overcoat at Dobbs Ferry. He refused to go back to the school. He got a good supper and a comfortable bed, and was sent to his home in the morning.

NOVEL DUNNING METHOD.

Trademark Post Printed Notice on Brown Stone Steps of Man Who Falls to Pay Tax.

Posted in a conspicuous place upon the steps of a brown stone residence in West Seventh street, New York city, the following notice caused some sensation before it was discovered and removed by the occupants of the building.

A man named — lives in this house. Bakers, butchers and grocers know him to be —. If you order off he Retail Dealers' Examination address.

Grocers' boys and employees of the butcher and baker who saw the placard while making early deliveries in the street laughed immediately. The dealers looked at it in amazement and speculated upon the possibilities which it suggested. Residents of the neighborhood in which live many well-to-do families, were shocked by the proceeding, and expressed indignation at the person or persons responsible for the posting of the notice. It was printed in circular form, in bold type, with the name of the alleged debtor written in. The address of the "Retail Dealer's Examination address" was not given, nor was there any new as to the identity of those responsible for the novel dunning system.

CATCHES AUTOMOBILE CRAZE.

Hefty Green Studies the Machine, and is Amused in Heat While K's "Ghoat."

Mrs. Hetty Green has a new ambition. It is to become an automobilist. She thinks that if she were to undertake it she could beat William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Herbert, the son of the late American financier. She expects to own the fastest automobile in the country.

Her characteristic energy, she spends hours in spending along the roads about New York, studying the details of automobiles propelled by gas, steam, electricity, and even by compressed air. After trying practically all the machines on the market she has eliminated all but single examples of the compressed air and electric vehicles. Her experiments have been carried on outside of New York, although she intends to spend gold in New York as soon as she has become sufficiently expert.
